energy healing for horses

using subtle forces & vibrational energy to generate internal change, support health, evoke healing and promote vitality.

brings about a state of internal stillness through very deep relaxation.

raises 'self' awareness, releases physical & emotional tension and integrates the mind/body connection.

use during chronic, long term health conditions, lameness, injury, rehab, post-viral, post-operative or simply to optimise rude health!

After his first Buqi session Ratty was used for one of his regular lessons and it was immediately obvious how much more flexion he had in his hocks; he wasn't dragging his hind feet nearly so much. His movement was much freer and "it was like he was 5 years younger". I am hoping the effects will last for a while and when it wears off Jo will come and work her magic again for my handsome old man and keep him comfortable and happy for even longer.

Poppy's Blue Moon has her regular fortnightly Buqi sessions which helps to keep her supple and responsive in her work and gives both Blue and her owner, Margaret, refreshing down-time.

Pooka had suffered from a systemic viral infection which left his energy levels very low and flat. His owner, Susie, described the effects as "I got the impression that his first Buqi session really 're-booted' his system". Not only did his energy levels and sense of humour return to normal but additionally "the most dramatic change was in the quality of the canter". She described the change as being "light years ahead" and is "really excited by his progress".
